I SEEM TO BE

afloat on a sea
of frustration.
“Prepare for tomorrow,”
the voices say, “but do it in a world of yesterday.”

Hurry to history —

but don't forget your boots.

Produce a prize-winning

Learn to appreciate art — in a basement.

team — in a pint-sized gym.

Grasp nuclear physics — in a lab built before WWI.

Rush to get a place in the lunch line.

Stand and wait for twenty minutes.

Eat before the bell rings —

if you can find a seat.

Try to study

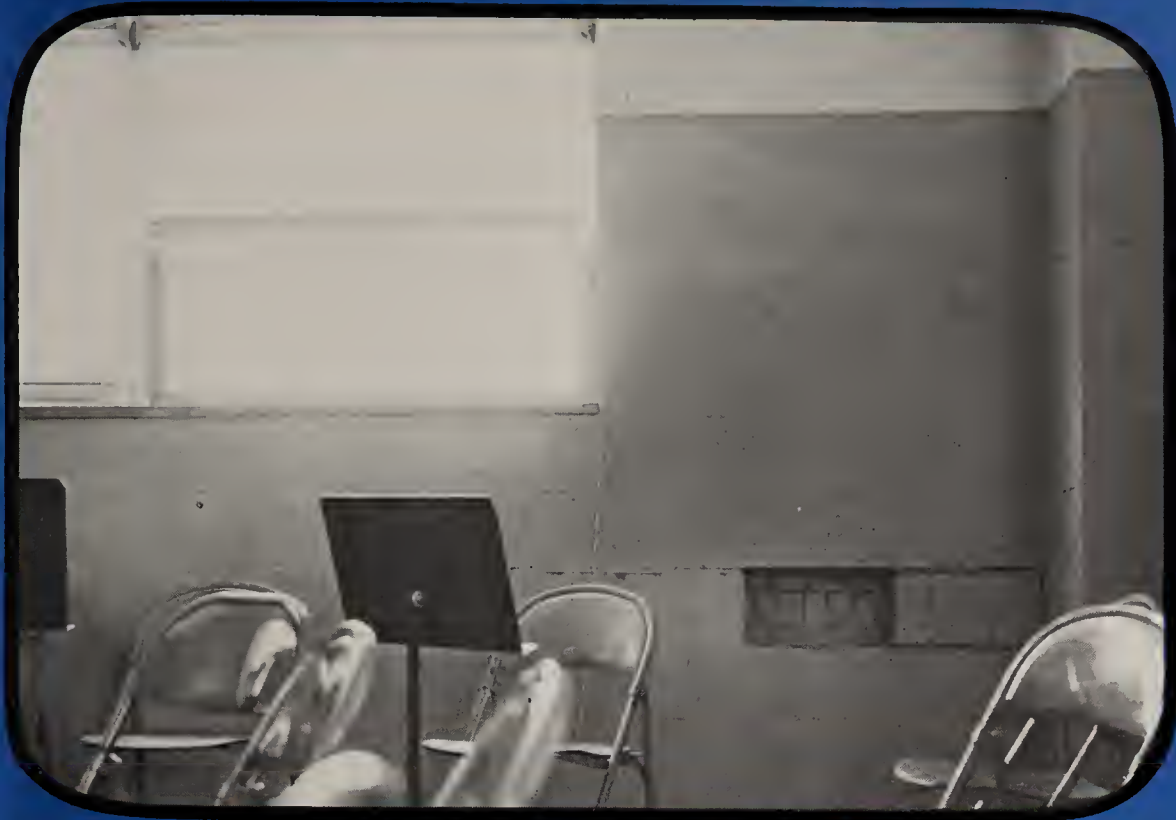

if it isn't too hot, too cold, or too noisy.

Search for rooms 1 and 2 - in the cellar.

Listen to the teacher if the radiator isn't banging.

Attempt to escape from orchestra any way you can.

Elbow your way to class.

I love this old school — in spite of its inadequacies. A school is more than a building — it is people. The friends made here and the teachers who gave inspiration will always be fond memories.

But just as humans reach the end of their productivity, time has run out on our old school. It can go on for a while with reduced pressure as a junior high, but even that time is limited.

I want to be ready for the future, but the past has held me back. It's too late for me, but how about my children? Will modern education be ready for them?

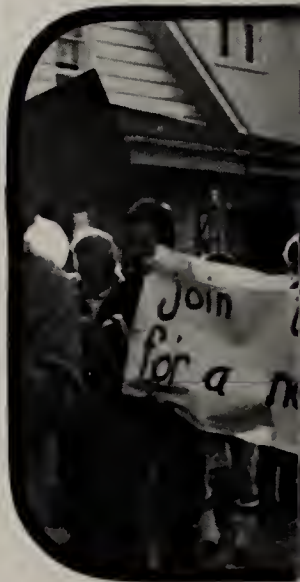

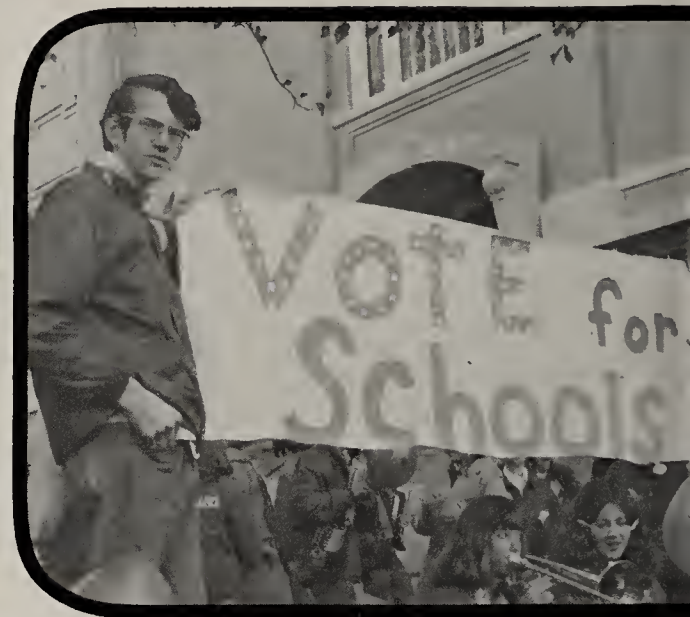

I seem to be dreaming . . .

MARCHING For a New School

It was a good try. We wanted to show Piqua that we believed in the need for a new school.

So we marched, not for our own benefit, but for the future students in our town. We were all there — the sports teams, the band, the clubs, the teachers, students from every aspect of Piqua Central. School pride spread through us like fire; it made us shout louder and hold our banners higher.

Our efforts were in vain, but we hope that we kindled a spark that will light the way for a better future.

A Homecoming Experience

Crisp autumn smells carried by the wind brought the thought of Homecoming to the minds of Piqua Central students. Homecoming was theirs to anticipate, theirs to enjoy. They elected Jill Marrs Homecoming Queen. For her court they chose seniors Connie Baker and Kris Lange. Chris Burch and Jill Cron were junior class candidates, and Missy Cox and Cheryl Young represented the sophomores. Homecoming festivities began with a parade organized by Key Club. Then, under a golden harvest moon, the Piqua Indians reaped a 28-20 victory from Springfield Catholic, a victory that was overshadowed by the injury of P.H.S. co-captain, Tom Stein. At the Sweetest Day Gala Dance given by Student Council the students moved to the music of "Nightshade." It was an experience for them all — a Homecoming experience.

I seem to be involved. Every day I run from one club meeting to another, or from play practice to pep band practice. I never get the sufficient hours of sleep. I never get the suggested daily vitamin requirements. I may be lacking in iron, but I've certainly got enough to do. I've got to sell spirit buttons for Student Council, Christmas wrapping paper for Junior Achievement, and tickets for the musical.

Then there's a chess club meeting and a language club banquet I can't miss. No wonder my parents are always yelling, "Why do you get so involved?"

I ask myself the same question. Is it for prestige or my own self-satisfaction? Or am I really a useful, productive member of this organization? I just don't know. The only thing I am certain of is that I have to be involved.

I need to be working beside others. I need to be sharing the laughter and the pride that comes from a job well done.

Yes, I'm involved right up to my neck.

THE PRICE IS RIGHT

There is one event at Piqua Central which yearly involves the entire school. Occasionally it involves teachers who would rather not be a part of it.

This event is the annual Piquonian skit, which kicks off the sale and promotion of yearbooks.

"I wonder what will happen this year", "Wasn't Scott Pearce hilarious as Mr. Stutler?", "Will it be as funny as last year?", "I really thought that was Miss Butt instead of Eric Davis." These were the comments of the audience as they awaited this year's skit. No one expected to see a 115 lb. pig on stage, but it happened thanks to Jim Heater and friends. Scott Kingrey played a perfect Mr. Wallach, and Ron Perkins looked just like Miss Andrews from behind. Mr. Stutler made a repeat performance. Wesley Westfall portrayed Miss McCorkle to a tee, and Julie Hemm took a couple, three, four seconds to come from the balcony as Mr. Montgomery. But no one will forget the voluptuous models played by Mike Faler, Steve Moniaci, and Mark Yenney, and the outstanding performance of Kent Asher as a sexy night club singer.

"The Price is Right" was the inspiration for the skit written by Leslie Tyler, with many of the female members of the staff participating in commercials.

"Come on down, Eli!"

"It's the girls from Tidy Bowl."

Wally bids for Emma Hohendorf.

"You are my yearbook, my only yearbook. You make me happy when skies are gray."

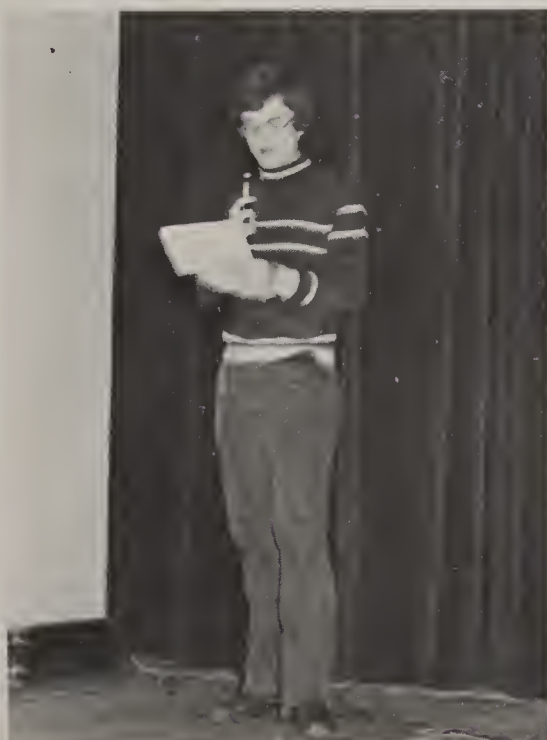

The odor lingers on.

Irma and Wally compete for pig.

Aw, crap!

Sooner or later we're gonna getcha!

Kent has recovered successfully from plastic surgery.

SPRIT LIVES ON, LIVES

ON, LIVES ON, LIVES ON, LIVES

Boom-Boom-Ba-Boom. They've got legs!

Troy Who?

ON, LIVES ON, LIVES ON, LIVES ON, LIVES ON, LIVES ON, LIVES ON, LIVES ON,

Spirit can be with out.

Spirit can be within.

Psyching up.

"Anything you say coach."

Spirit reaches everyone.

What am I? I'm an indescribable feeling that is within, but which emerges when the time is right.

I come in the form of a cheerleader, a decorated locker, or the deafening roar of a Saturday night basketball crowd. I take the shape of a multitude of people who have one thing in common, the desire to win. I am needed when people are low; I am there when people are high. I don't have to be heard, and I move swiftly — it is catching. I will never die, but will live as long as the feeling is there. What am I? It's simple, I thought you would guess. I am spirit.

President Beef Manning conducts the induction ceremony.

Members of National Honor Society are chosen by a faculty committee according to the standards set by the national organization. The students are judged on scholarship, leadership, character, and service. All those students in the upper one-fourth of their class are eligible, but only fifteen per cent of the class is chosen.

Acomodadores is an honorary organization for the sophomores of Piqua Central. A sophomore who maintained a 3.5 average as a freshman is eligible and these sophomores who accumulate a 3.2 grade average within the first three six weeks are eligible also. Acomodadores usher at school plays and help with the Jr.-Sr. Party.

COUNCIL

Student Council Officers: M. Beasley, Secy.; N. Berkemeier, Vice-Pres.; C. Shawler, Pres.

The 1973-1974 Student Council's roster of accomplishments started with Homecoming. Student Council members organized the Homecoming dance and the crowning ceremony. Two other dances were also held for the students — a Christmas dance and a sockhop in April. In addition, the council provided a rock band assembly, featuring T. S. Eliot, for the student body.

Near the end of the school year, Student Council plans for a student recreation center and a rock band festival were brought before the administration.

THEY SPREAD

Cheerclub Advisors: Miss Haley, Miss Beck, and Miss Sterling

I seem to be the sound waves of a million voices finding one expression in the dusky twilight.

The voices drift up and ripple out like a myriad of stones catapulted into a single pond.

Each wave meets its sister and their sounds mingle.

And so I become stronger and more fervent.
Beat Troy they cry me. Beat Troy.

And as I drift upward, I look back to their faces,
so tense, with eyes brightly sparkling.

They are the faces of young girls on their way to becoming women.

And I am their voice
and they are my soul.

OTHER PEOPLE....

It is not easy for a young person to make a decision to leave his home and his friends in order to spend a whole year in another county, in an environment which is new for him. But that is also an excellent opportunity to experience a different life-style, to get acquainted with new people, and to try to live and work with them. My name is Ivan Naumov, and I come from Skopje, Yugoslavia. Here in Piqua I live with the John Roemer family. My stay in Piqua as well as my senior year schooling at Piqua Central will soon be over. I look back to the months past, and I find them unforgettable, a very valuable experience of my life. I am never going to forget the friendly town of Piqua, the Piqua Central High School, and all the people that I had the opportunity to meet here. It came to me stronger than ever that people, regardless of where they come from are only, and only, people; they are all human. I tried to understand the Piqua people and to be understood by them. I tried to live as a part of this community. It wasn't always easy to adjust to the new way of life, but I tried, and the friends that I made helped me. Now, at the end of my stay I can say that I learned a lot of new things, exchanged a lot of thoughts, and I'll leave with the feeling that Piqua will always stay in my heart. Maybe, some day, I'll come to visit Piqua again. (I hope there is going to be a new high school building by then.)

Margerita Azmitia from Guatemala

Leesa Monroy from Guatemala

I have been Piqua now for several months. Everything in the beginning was very different because in Brazil I live in a city with 7 million people, but now I'm getting used to Piqua. The school was my first friend, and in the school I found my best friends. The school activities are much bigger here, and I never worked and read so much in my life before. The only thing I think is that all Americans work too much, but I think the truth is that I'm too lazy. I love my family, the Shanelys, very much, and I know I will miss them and my friends a lot when I go back to my country. Connie Ronn is my name.

OTHER PLACES

Deise (Daysi) Moreira is my name. I'm from Parana (south of Brazil). I am living for six months with the Fesses (the name of my "mean" father is Bob Lee Fess), and I can say they are a real lovely family. At Piqua Central I'm meeting many people (cute ones!!!) that are helping me in many things. When I arrived I didn't know what is a cheer club because I don't have in my country, and I've made some mistakes that some people didn't understand, but

I hope now everything has become clear. Some people have asked me if I want to live here or go back, and I say that my or your country aren't the best; they are just different, and in my way of feeling both are wonderful! I think this is such an interesting experience to see a different way of life and thought, a beautiful country and nice people. I hope some day to come back to visit and see you again.

Alvaro Aquilar from Guatemala

Carlos Sochas from Guatemala

Estuardo Pellecer from Guatemala

I am Xavier Galvis from Cali, Colombia. I am 17 years old, and I live in Piqua with the John Pearce family. I have had an unforgettable year because I live the American life, and it is different from how I thought it was. I learn to live it, but I do not like alot. America is a great country, and I have spent a happy year in it.

Smoke Signals is the voice of Piqua Central. Appearing each Saturday in THE PIQUA DAILY CALL, it informs the community of the activities of the high school student body. Smoke Signals also serves as Central's school paper. Reporting is done by the staff under the guidance of Mr. Hardman.

During the past few years, Smoke Signals has introduced several new columns. "Around The School" is a potpourri of information about what's happening at Central. Interviews of the top-ranking twenty-five seniors are contained in "Top Twenty". The column "Nother Indian" acquaints the community with Piqua Central's athletes.

Both the students and the community appreciate Smoke Signals for its faithful and concise reporting.

The advertising staff comes closer to solid ground.

Members of Piquonian find themselves involved in all aspects of school life. Pictures of groups and activities must be arranged, advertising must be sold, and distribution must be planned before the book can be started. Many hours are spent in making plans and revising them later. Then the task of laying out the pages begins. There is much work involved, but the rewards come when the book is delivered.

It is the aim of the staff that each student at Piqua Central feels he is as much a part of the book as those who worked on it.

The musical BRIGADOON, by Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Lowe, was presented on March 14, 15, and 16 under the direction of Richard Couchois and Ronal Young.

Sarah Deavours and Garry Shirk shared the lead roles of Fiona and Tommy. Jim MacKellar played Jeff with Rosie Schilling as Meg. Other major roles included Dave Thomas as Charlie Dalrymple, April Schaurer as Jean, Don Smith as Harry Beaton and Greg Netzley as Mr. Lundie.

The success of the production was due to the combined effort of the cast, the chorus, the orchestra and all those who worked behind the scenes.

Lenore (Hudson) A. Schaurer and Peggy get to know each other

Instead of a turkey, the class of 1974 gave its audience a goose of a play for Thanksgiving. On Nov. 21, 1973 the seniors presented BROTHER GOOSE by William Davidson and directed by R. Wendell Carter.

BROTHER GOOSE is Jeff Adams, a young architect who is keeping house for his orphaned brother, Wes, and two sisters, Carol and Hy. The local heiress, Lenore Hudson, is out to snare Jeff. But she meets her match in Peggy Winkel, the lingerie lady, who comes to play mother for the Adams family. Through a maze of Wheat Puffies, poison ivy, and motorcycles, Jeff finally makes Peggy a permanent part of the family.

Wes mistakes Mrs. Mason (R. Schilling) for her daughter Eve.

Lenore butters up Jeff.

Mrs. Trimmer (L. Steinhilber) fires Jeff as he architect.

Wes accidentally picks up some lingerie when he shakes Eve's (K. Dellinger) hand.

"I quits," yells C. Conrad.

Peggy and Hy play West Indian ball.

A sweet voice
that makes an old man smile,
that's what I hear.
And a song that sings life,
while the voices that sing it ride a magic carpet,
forgetting the world
down
below.
They each squeeze themselves into the black bubble
of a note and weave in and out of the melody,
stopping only to rest.
When the journey is over,
the bubbles burst.
A sound explodes forth
and that's what I hear,
a sound so eternal that it makes me shiver —
the sound of youth singing.

CALL IT A DAY — The regular office attendant is out and Doctor Culver is left with his wife to replace her. Armed with nothing but inexperience, she tackles the job, along with all the aches and pains associated with it.

BENCH #18 — Sammy is waiting for Julia at a park bench, and this will be their first meeting. They have never seen each other, they have never talked to each other. The only thing they know is that through their pen-pal letters they have fallen in love.

THE BOND BETWEEN — A mother calls on the wife of the governor hoping that her plea will change the fate of her son.

SUMMER BREEZE makes me feel fine

Prom King Jim MacKellar and Queen Julie Fess

Once upon a time there lived King Jim and Queen Julie in the never-never land of Piqua. Their castle was the Piqua East Mall, and their ladies-in-waiting were Jill Cron, Chris Burch, Barb Reed, Robin Maniaci, and Marcie Sherer. Knights in shining armor were Steve Moniaci, Wendell Willcox, Jim Stein, Mike Faler and Dan Cavender. Sound like a fairy tale? It was — for the participants of the 1974 Junior-Senior Prom held May 11th. Carnival games, balloons, and acomadadores dressed as little children surrounded the dancers. This atmosphere plus the music of Sunava provided an evening that will never be forgotten. The signs of summer were there — except for one thing. But if you stopped for a moment, you could feel it — a summer breeze.

Even now,
while I'm sitting in this desk, my feet want to march to some tune sunk deep in my sea-of-a-brain.
I tell my feet to cool it — to wait till 3:15 and the rush on the restrooms, where 20 million other marching feet will be getting into blue jeans and old shoes.
Yes, it's marching band season again —
that hot, sticky, frustrating, repetitive, crazy, laughable, ingenious, noisy, musical, watched-over (by Mr. S. standing high atop a sliding board with his white broad-brimmed hat on his head), feet-fracturing, brain-bursting, spirit-soaring, comrade-creating,
syncopated, precisioned time.
But it's all worth it.
I know because when I'm out on the field and the music begins to swell in me like a fountain,
high and strong, yet,
fragile and beautiful,
I cry from the goodness of it all.
And it's worth it, every minute, every day, every year of it.

The Marching and Alumni Bands present a half-time show.

Intensive Office Education

Senior Steno: First Row — B. Sholley, K. Nicholson, Second Row — B. Kiesewetter, B. Stover, K. Maniaci, K. Creager, T. Burnside, C. Conrad, Third Row — Mr. Tyler, K. Shanley, K. Lange, D. Dill, V. Mitchell, D. Seas, C. Reaves, B. Stremmel, Absent When Pictured Taken: K. Fogt, H. Motter

Intensive Office Education (I.O.E.) is the name given to the Junior and Senior Steno and Junior and Senior Clerical classes at Piqua Central. These classes are open to girls and boys who would like to work as a secretary after graduating from high school, or to go on to college for further education in the secretarial field. Basic skills, such as shorthand, accounting, typing, and filing are taught in the junior year, while perfecting these skills is stressed in the senior year. One aspect that sets these classes apart from other business classes is that they are taught in a block, meaning the students remain in the same room all morning. Features such as eating out, 10-minute breaks, and the use of a coffee machine also help to simulate an office type experience. Teachers for the Steno program are Mr. Tyler and Miss Buckloh.

Jr. Steno: First Row — G. Grieve, D. Reardon, B. Rasor, M. Scherer, V. Hines, D. Hefelfinger, Second Row — E. Favorite, K. Miller, D. Caven, D. Denning, K. Kindell, T. Cecil, S. Deavours, L. Sells, J. Thomas, Miss Buckloh, D. Myers, B. Livesay, S. Felver, S. Matthews, D. Burns, S. Baugh

For a student who desires a broader background in accounting rather than shorthand, junior and senior clerical are offered. These courses are also taught in a block where the simulation of an office is also an objective. Filing, accounting, and the operation of various office machines are taught in the hope that these skills will help to prepare students for a job as a clerk or clerk-typist. Mr. Johnson and Miss Clark are the senior and junior clerical teachers.

Jr. Clerical: First Row — K. Croghan, B. Sherman, K. Stotler, L. Caudill, R. Wion, C. Anderson, Second Row — D. Kinsella, B. Yount, D. Roby, J. Callison, V. Williams, T. Saul, U. Wiley, Miss Clark, R. Palsgrove, S. Christopher, C. Bricker, P. Curtis, C. Jenkins

Clubs Promote Exercise and Concentration

Two clubs have added variety to the extracurricular activities at Piqua Central in the form of the Chess Club and Bike Club.

Playing more as a team than a club, the Chess team organized for their second year at Central. Officers elected were: B. Huseman, Pres.; B. Stephan, V. Pres.; R. Blankly, Sec.; and S. Anthony, Treas.; Mr. McConahay acted as advisor for the club. Four tournaments which Piqua participated in this year were the Fairmont West tournament (placing 23th and 28th), the Vandalia-Butler tournament (4th and 12th), the Piqua tournament (6th, 13th, and 15th), and the State tournament at Columbus where they finished 48th. Either next year or the following year, the team hopes to get into a league.

The other club that has emerged at Central is the Bike Club. Because of the weather, the club didn't get going until spring. The President and Vice-President for this year's club are M. Alexander and A. Jacomet, respectively. Plans for the future include bike races and possibly a Houston-to-Piqua bicycle ride. Advisor for the club is Mr. Young.

1974 JA: Bottom Row — A. Jacomet, L. Johnson, G. Wenrick, R. Blankley, R. Varney. Second Row — L. Smith, M. Fyffe, V. Daley, L. Bolin, R. Jacobs, P. Supinger. Third Row — C. Kindell, B. Huseman, Mr. Smith, Advisor, D. Magill.

The Junior Achievement Company for 1974 was sponsored by the Val Decker Packing Company under the name Deckachieve. The business advisors from Deckers are: Mr. Carl Decker, Mr. Stanley Adomaitis, and Mr. James Rigola. The teacher-advisor from Piqua Central is Mr. Don Smith.

JA functions almost like an actual company. The business is set up, stock certificates are issued, products are produced and then sold. Rent and taxes are paid and 10% dividends are paid to stockholders. Money is donated to various organizations, as was the case when $175 was donated to the Xenia Relief Fund.

A main event that JA participated in was the Trade Fair, held at the Dayton Mall. Piqua JA, along with 75 other Dayton area JA's displayed and sold their products.

Christmas wrapping paper, pins, hangers, Easter eggs, and popcorn were some of the products sold during the year. Over $2000 worth of products were sold, with nine salesman on the Century Club list — which are sales that total over $100. Luke Bolin was named top salesman of the company.

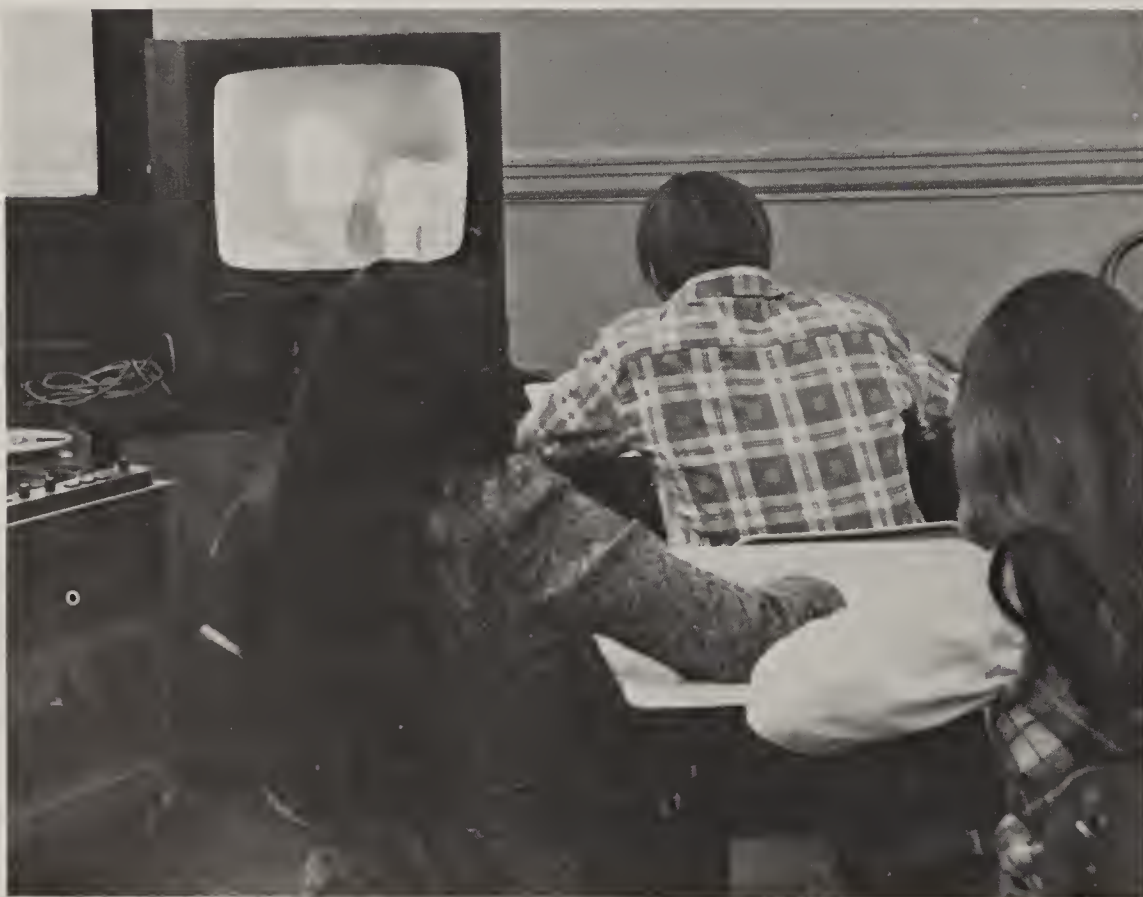

Officers of the '74 JA are: G. Wenrick, Pres.; L. Bolin, V.-Pres. of Sales; A. Jacomet, V. Pres. of Manufacturing; B. Huseman, Treas.; R. Blankley, Ass't Treas.; V. Daley, Sec.

Occupational Work Experience, Home Economic Related Occupations, Co-operative Office Education and Distributive Education are organizations in which the students work at various jobs for a half day and participate in classroom work for the second half of the day.

The students are credited for their work in addition to being paid. (Each one must save 20% of his earnings).

The students are selected for these organizations on the basis of their grades and their attendance. The object of these programs is for students to learn about the world of work by experience and classroom related subjects.

I seem to be striving. I run the miles and I make the pins. At practice, I shoot basketballs, bat baseballs, and bounce tennis balls till my arms turn to rubber. I take the goudging and the kicking just to get an inflated pigskin over a chalk mark. But I do it for a reason — to win. When I win, I can say to myself, “I did it. I set a goal, and now I’ve reached it.” I feel tall and self-satisfied.

Along with the glory come throbbing muscles and an abused body. The odor of linament has permanently penetrated my skin. And I’ll never forgive the locker room that gave me athlete’s foot.

I get so psyched up before I compete that coming down is frustrating. I can’t stop the energy bursting in my body.

I feel like I could run and run, and only stop when sleep outweighs me.

Do I try too hard to get my name on a trophy or a blue ribbon on my chest?

I don’t think so. I strive to win and know myself.

There are times when I feel like a football.

My pointed head and stiff, leathery skin prove it.

Besides that, I'm always getting kicked in the *# !?

And then there are those other times when the ball flies straight to me like a homing pigeon to its destination. It nestles down safe in my arms and we (the ball and I) head across Six Point Sea.

While I wade for shore the other guys on my team do a little bowling (they like to see how many pinheads they can knock down).

And then I reach the goal post. I turn back to a piece of perfection. The crowd cheers and yells and jumps up and down, but they missed the point of it all, not to play for numbers on a scoreboard, but to see how many times all the right men can be in all the right places for all the right reasons.

So I go back and try again for another piece of perfection.

A GOOD shot

Coble leaps for a rebound.

Basketball, basketball, basketball
 Dribbling down the court, I feel the pebbly surface of the ball beneath my hand with sweat sandwiched between.
 When I've got that ball, it's like the world in my hands.
 The crowd's just a rushing in my ears.
 I never see them. I only hear them.
 The sound of their frantic clapping fills the Pit.
 It starts loud and slow and together.
 It whirls and spins and speeds,
 faster and faster,
 but still together.
 Out of the blur of bodies, I see the coach's face,
 tense,
 eyes squinting;
 he's mouthing silent commands.

And then I see the scoreboard.
 MY GOD, WE'RE LOSING!!!!
 It's time to move,

Central's basketball teams had a great season even though high hopes were dashed by Stebbins in the first game of the tournament. Bernard Newman brought fame to Piqua with his many honors: Co-MVP in the MVL, leading scorer in the MVL, all southwest district and Journal Herald first teams. Jeff Coble and Tim Williams were also named to the MVL team.

The future for basketball looks bright with the JV's winning the MVL and the sophomore team finishing with a 10-2 season.

The 1973 Cross Country Squad — Bottom: B. Bowman, M. Wills, J. Roth, R. Gover, S. Tisher, M. Diehl, Capt.; Top: Coach Carter, J. Eberly, D. Spiers, D. Dunton, D. Stahl, H. Stephan, M. Spiers, J. Beasley, Head Coach Tom Hill.

Piqua, Tipp City, and Urbana run

Cross Country Award Winners: Coach Tom Hill, Captain's Award — M. Diehl, Most Improved — J. Beasley, Outstanding Underclassman — B. Bowman, Most Valuable — D. Stahl.

ners start off on the Echo Hills course in Piqua.

Piqua harriers take a breather after a race at Lima Shawnee.

The Cross Country Team warms up at the Troy Invitational.

J. Beasley crosses the finish at West Milton.

H. Stephen moves ahead of the crowd at the Sectionals in Springfield.

D. Dunton flies by at the District meet in Dayton.

Over hill, over dale, I will hit the cross country trail
As those harriers go hurrying along
It's not bad at first.
 The race is ready to start,
 bodies, bodies everywhere,
 bare arms, bare legs.
 God. It's cold.

But not for long.
 After sixty false starts, one is true.
And one thousand roadrunners beep, beep into the early-early-very-early morning.
Every time my feet touch down
 I hear them pulsing in my brain.
 The chilled molecules of air diffuse through my bare necessities of clothes.
 But I'm not cold.

My eyes begin to water —
 it gets harder to spot cow paddies.
I hope I never fall —
 I don't want some guy's cleats making a pincushion of me.

I'd rather get the sea-sickness that comes from the up & down, up & down, up & down of those interminable hills.

I'm there, yet, I'm not there.
I see where I'm going but I never watch Usually,

I'm waiting for me at the finish line.
And when I get my second wind —
 I completely disappear.
 I've no legs.
 I've no arms,
 no head,
 no body

I'm just a feeling of being high.
 I'm flying.
 And that's why I run — to fly.

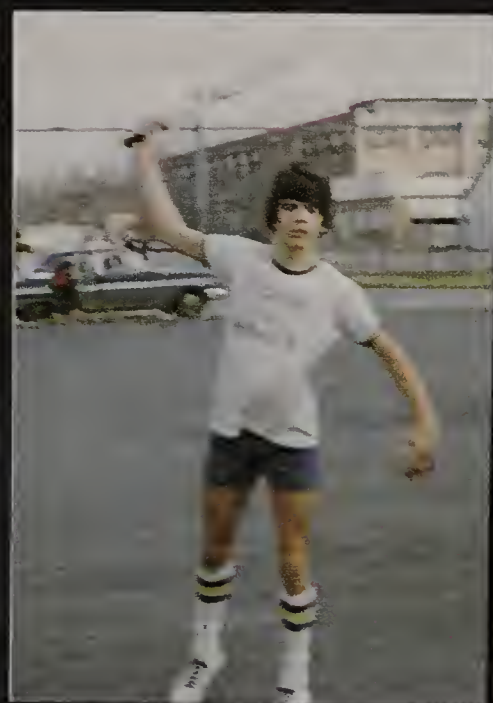

Good-bye M.V.L.

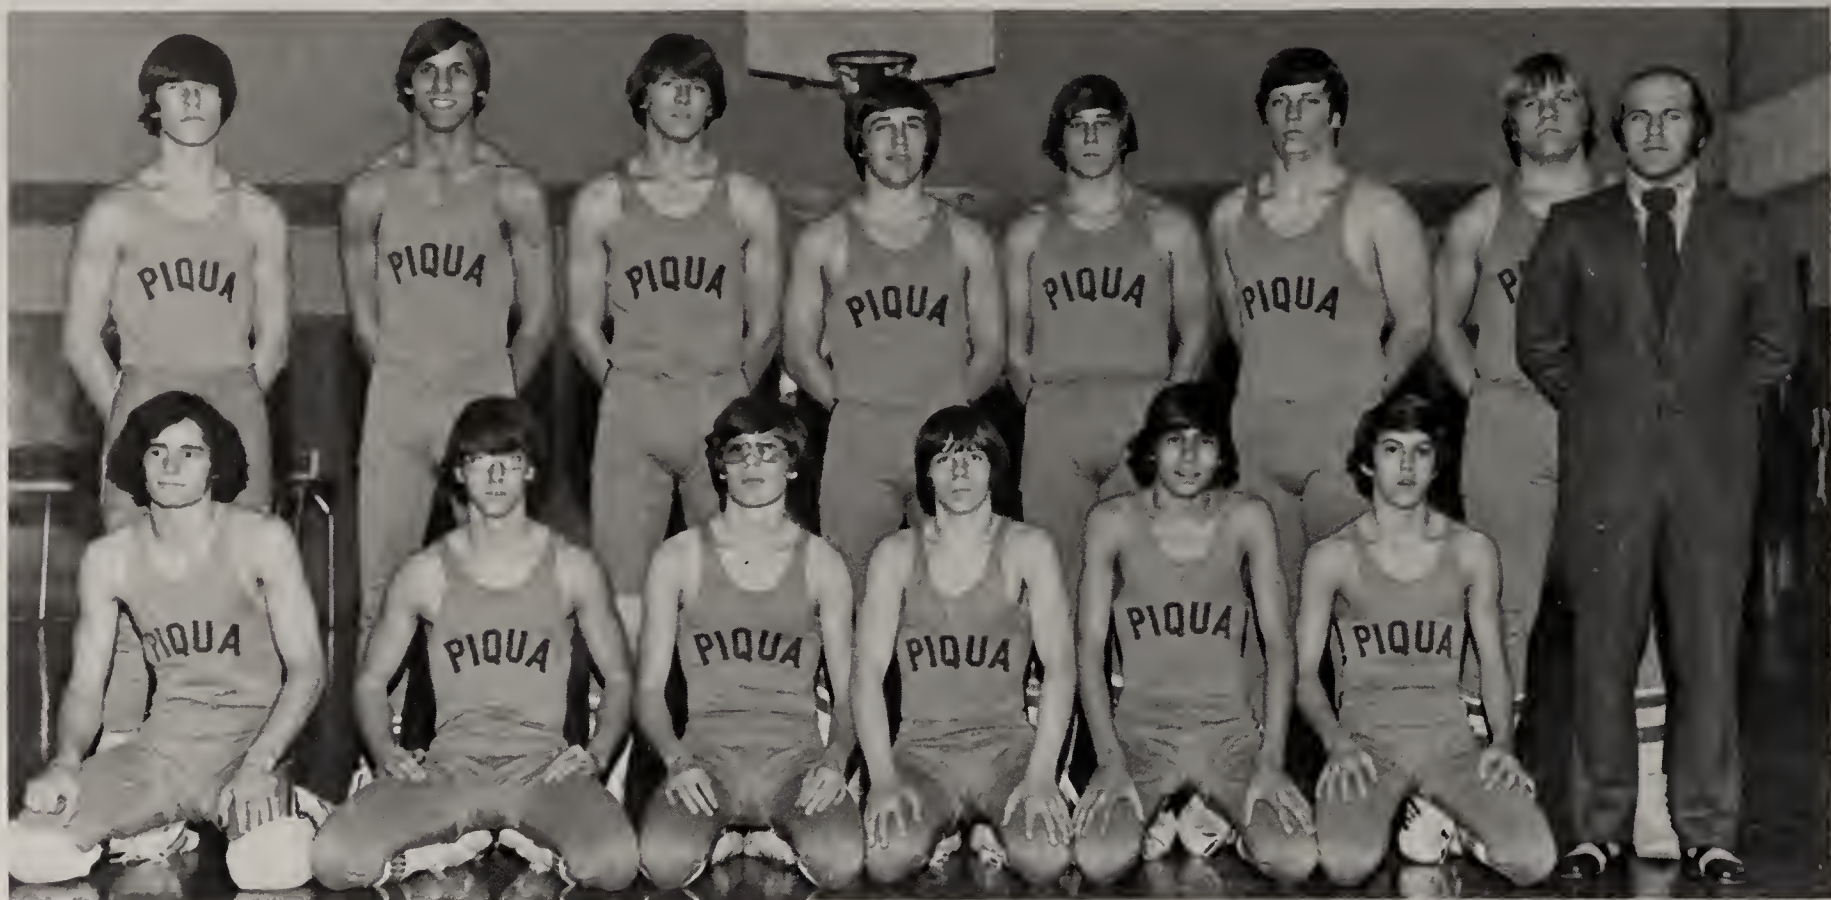

The Miami Valley League, the oldest sports league in the state of Ohio, has come to an end after 46 years of continuous competition. In 1927, Sidney, Troy, Miamisburg, Greenville and Xenia joined Piqua in forming the league. Teams such as Fairview, Fairmont, Oakwood, Fairborn and Urbana joined through the years. Between 1953 and 1964 the MVL was one of the most exciting leagues in the state. Piqua and Sidney will join the Miami Central Conference after one year of independent play. Other teams in the new loop will be Oakwood, Miamisburg, Vandalia-Butler, Fairborn Baker and Park Hills, Trotwood-Madison and West Carrollton.

As we relive this year in sports at Piqua Central, we pay tribute to all the athletes and fans who were a part of the MVL.

Look, Maw, no hands!

Wrestling Seniors: Bottom — K. Harman, B. Christy, Top — K. Lange, J. Reese

It's kissing time for first place R. Rouse.

K. Harman pulls off another pin.

J. Stein inches his opponent to the mat.

I've starved.

No pie, no cake, no cookies, no candy, no nothing.

All week I've starved.

And now I'm pacing back and forth on the mat watching my feet sink into the cushiony surface and feeling my stomach coil.

It always gets like that before I wrestle —

a churning, spasmodic
pit.

Before I die, the ref starts the match. I shake the clammy paw of my opponent. He looks like a nice guy.

So why do I have to beat his brains out?

The whistle blows,

Like two bucks, my opponent and I lock horns.

I swing him hard,

lunge for his legs,

and twist him to the mat.

His knee smashes my nose across my face.

Suddenly,

I find myself kissing the mat.

I hear the crowd protest.

I grit my teeth and push hard against him.

It's like lifting a semi.

He weakens.

And I squash him against the mat to pin his shoulders down.

But his bones won't give.

His body won't bend.

— Down, Down —

I've got to get him down.

He's not going to escape.

I feel victory.

The ref slaps the mat.

The crowd roars.

I stagger to my feet,

dizzy,

my eyes watering,

my nose bleeding.

The ref swings my hand high.

Food, here I come.

Keith Lange, the wrestling team's 145-pound co-captain, competed in the state wrestling meet this year. During the first session of the state meet, Keith decided on Howard McGowan of Akron Buchtel 11-1. However, he was beaten by Mick Davis of Columbus Brookhaven in the second session.

Three years of wrestling experience helped Keith chalk up a 24-3 season. Also, he was M.V.L. runnerup, sectional champion, and district runnerup. Keith is the third wrestler Piqua Central has sent to the state meet.

It's the last time — the last time I'll stand in front of this crowd carting cartwheels and flipping flips because I'm a senior cheerleader. I keep wishing it was the first time. My stomach was in knots and my mouth hurt from so much smiling. There are no knots in my stomach now, only warm contentment of belonging in this place, of knowing the cheers as well as I know my name. Like Cinderella at the ball, my time is up and the enchantment is fading; a year flying like a second.

All that's left are wonderful memories — of practices and locker-decorating, of ball games and sports meets, of camp and cheerleading tryouts. I was special, admired, envied. And now it's slipping through my hands and I can't do anything but cry.

I wanna pitch so bad
I can taste it.
It's the sweet taste of power —
the power in my arm that transfers itself to the ball and sends it hurtling toward the batter,
the power I feel in myself as I stand on the mound, surveyor of my realm, the pivot on which this game hinges,
the power I have over the batter.
He stands boldly daring me to hit him, yet afraid I'll strike him out and shame him.
I can tell by the scowl on his face that he knows I've got his fate in my hands
a hard, unfeeling
ball.
And the others know it, too.
The outfielders tense, their mits begging for a pop-up.
The basemen unconsciously tap the bases with their cleated feet to reassure themselves.
The catcher signals.
The coaches pray.
The batter waits.
And I smile.

Oh, the sweet taste of power!

Though swimming is not part of the athletic program at Piqua Central, three of its students have excelled on the YMCA Swim Team. Ivan Naumov, Liza Thompson, and Mark Yenney represented Piqua in the National YMCA Swimming Championships at Ft. Lauderdale, Florida in April.

Liza and Mark competed in the back stroke and Ivan participated in the medley relay. Liza placed 40th out of 70 competitors and Mark placed 67th out of 87.

Because a certain time minimum is required to enter, qualifying for this meet is an accomplishment.

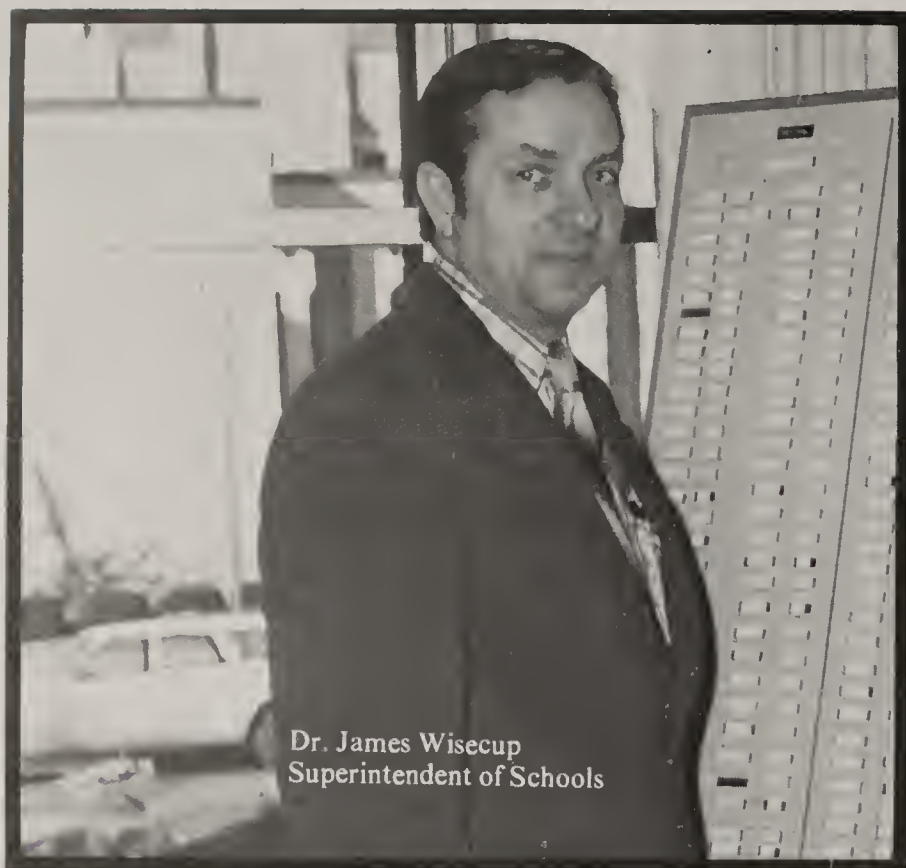

I seem to be trying to reach them. What does that mean? Wanting to understand their motivations, their rebellion, their deep-seated need to belong, to contribute to make them realize they need to learn before they can fulfill these motivations

Most of all, to accept each one as an individual molded by his background, and to help him see things he might never be exposed to. To bring one student out of despair into a bright future that is every teacher's dream.

faculty funnies

I seem to be looking at my own reflection, and those of my friends. How will we change in the years to come? Will I remember the boy who took me to the prom — the girl who sat next to me and helped the study halls to pass by — the teacher who bugged me?

This time will always be a part of us — the time that molded us for life a carefree, happy time.

WE MUST HAVE

An aerial, black and white photograph of a school campus. A large, rectangular school building with a flat roof is the central focus. To its left is a large parking lot filled with numerous cars. To the right of the building is a large, open field, possibly a sports field. The entire scene is captured from a high angle, looking down on the campus.

When we started this yearbook, we hoped that it would have a happy ending — that all our pessimism concerning the old school would be amusing because a new school would have been voted for in March.

But now it looks dead serious to us — and we hope to you.

A yearbook is supposed to reflect each particular year-to convey the feeling of the year so that in the future each book can pinpoint a particular year in memory.

We hope no student or teacher of Piqua Central forgets that 1974 was the year when his hopes for better education in Piqua were cast aside by the many voters of Piqua who were more concerned with their own selfish ideas than with the young people of its town.

June 7, 1974

Dear Mrs. Wilson . . .

When you look at this book, will it remind you of the parking ticket we got in Cincinnati? Or the hassle we had over the cover? Or the time we had to take 100 "Gotcha" stickers off P.H.S.'s crumbling walls? (It probably would've kept them up longer.) What about the time Mr. Miller didn't show up with Tom Goff's pictures of Brigadoon, and everybody nearly had a nervous breakdown? And all the things that we lost in the filing cabinet and all the croppers that we broke (at $15 a piece). Do you remember the way Scott Kingrey cut up your driving? (Though, that isn't half as bad as your compulsive doodling.) What about the day we got our first proofs back? We were so proud. Then there were all the headaches, all the decisions, all the work, and all the laughter. (We did laugh alot, didn't we?)

Will you remember? We will. For always. So, even though the yearbook experts disapprove of this, we dedicate the 1974 Piquonian to you.

Fondly,
Kim & Amy
